

MODERN SLAVERY STATEMENT 2016

This statement is made pursuant to section 54 (1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes Total UK Limited's anti-slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ending 31 December 2016.

Introduction

Total UK Limited is the marketing and services subsidiary of the Total Group in the UK. Total UK Limited manufactures and sells speciality products including bitumen, lubricants, aviation fuel and special fluids.

Total UK Limited is ultimately wholly owned by Total SA (including its subsidiaries, "Total"), a top tier international energy company with worldwide exploration, production, processing and marketing activities employing more than 100,000 people across in excess of 130 countries. Total SA's shares are listed and publicly tradeable on the Euronext Paris Stock Exchange and the New York Stock Exchange.

Total requires high professional standards of behaviour in all its business dealings and has implemented a range of policies, guides and training to ensure these high standards are met. In Total's Human Rights Guide the CEO of Total, Patrick Pouyanné, sets out human rights as one of Total's three priority business principles,

'Respect for Human Rights in the workplace for our employees and promotion of these principles in our supply chain, in particular by preventing child and forced labour, avoiding discrimination, observing workers' rights and by respecting freedom of expression.'

In pursuance of this priority business principle Total UK Limited is committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking in its own activities and in its supply chain by requiring suppliers to maintain ethical business practices and in particular to prevent slavery and human trafficking in their businesses.

This statement sets out the steps taken by Total UK Limited to ensure that there is no slavery or human trafficking in its own business and to require suppliers to take the same approach in the supply chain.

This statement relates to actions and activities undertaken during the financial year ending 31 December 2016.

Organisation and Supply Chain

Total UK Limited engages suppliers of goods and/or services in the UK and abroad.

Total UK Limited's main customers are companies to which it supplies goods and/or services through its marketing activities.

Implementing our Commitment

Total and Total UK Limited, implement their commitment to eradicate modern slavery in its business in 4 ways: Policies, training, governance and reporting, and engagement with suppliers.

1. Policies

At a corporate level directives and policies exist which apply to all staff. Consistent with International and EU legislation on human rights, Total has directives and policies concerning the prevention of modern slavery and guides to educate staff regarding their obligations. These directives and policies are adopted by local subsidiaries so as to ensure consistency across the Total Group and maintain Total's international reputation.

The relevant policies are set out below.

2. Governance and processes

The Ethics Committee of Total reports directly to the CEO, Patrick Pouyanné. The Ethics Officer chairs the Ethics Committee which provides guidance to the business regarding compliance with the Code of Conduct and investigates and addresses any complaints of breaches of the Code of Conduct including with respect to human rights.

In addition, Total UK Limited has an Ethics Officer, who is responsible for promoting compliance with and the understanding of the Code of Conduct.

Staff are encouraged to report any possible breach of the Code of Conduct, by "speaking up" through a whistleblowing policy. This can be done in several ways, as set out below.

3. Supply chain and due diligence:

Total's Code of Conduct requires that our suppliers meet equivalent standards to those in the Code of Conduct, make sure that their own suppliers also respect equivalent standards, and require suppliers to pay particular attention to their Human Rights standards including employees' working conditions.

In addition contracts with our key suppliers require the contractor to adhere to Total Group's Fundamental Principles of Purchasing which include provisions regarding respecting human rights at work, as set out below.

4. Training

Training at a corporate level includes online and face to face training programmes to ensure that employees are familiar with the requirements of the Code of Conduct, the company policies and our individual obligations to respect human rights. Additional training is organised at an affiliate level.

Further information on training is set out below.

Our Policies and Processes

Total's key policies concerning the identification of modern slavery risks and steps to be taken to prevent slavery and human trafficking, applied in Total UK Limited's operations, are as follows:

- Code of Conduct: Total's Code of Conduct has specific priority principles to which employees and suppliers must adhere. The third priority principle relates to respect for international recognised Human Rights standards, in particular:
 1. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights
 2. The UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights
 3. The Fundamental Conventions of the ILO.
 4. The OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.
 5. The Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights.
 6. The United Nations Global Compact.

In addition, in 2015, Total's CEO signed a global agreement with IndustriALL Global Union, which represents 50 million employees across 140 countries. The agreement provides a formal framework for safeguards and standards at the global level, covering social, environmental and CSR issues such as developing employee dialogue and promoting Human Rights, diversity and workplace safety.

The Total Code of Conduct, available in 19 languages, can be found here:

- The Human Rights Guide, and Business Integrity Guide, provide more detailed guidance on the matters addressed by the Code of Conduct.
- Fundamental Principles of Purchasing: Suppliers are required to abide by our Fundamental Principles of Purchasing.

The Fundamental Principles of Purchasing contain several key principles concerning health safety and the environment, anti-corruption compliance and other matters, and in particular requires our suppliers to respect human rights at work in compliance with the international conventions referred to above.

Total UK Limited works with its suppliers to ensure that they meet the standards of our Code of Conduct and Human Rights Guide and improve their workers' working conditions.

Serious violations by a supplier of Total's Code of Conduct entitle Total UK Limited to terminate the contract.

- Recruitment/Agency workers policy: Total UK Limited uses its own internal recruitment team along with selected, reputable employment agencies to source labour and always verifies the practices of any new agency it is using before accepting workers from that agency.
- Processes – reporting and audit: The Code of Conduct specifically encourages employees to "speak up": that is, to report any instances of non-compliance with the Code of Conduct, including any breaches of human rights.

Employees may report matters of concern to their immediate manager, a Human Resources manager, any other manager, their Compliance Officer, their Ethics Officer or directly to the local Integrity Committee or corporate's Ethics Committee via its helpline.

Total regularly conducts internal ethical evaluations and human rights assessments of affiliates, including Total UK Limited, to ensure that they are complying with the requirements of the Code of Conduct. These are conducted on an ad hoc basis by independent, external contractors, and cover the requirements of compliance with human rights requirements.

Supply Chain: Due diligence

In the procurement of goods and services, we strive to ensure the prevention of illegal labour through the enforcement of the policies already referred to, engagement with our suppliers, and contractual clauses aimed at ensuring that any supplier guarantees their workforce is suitably competent, trained and employed in full compliance with applicable laws, including the use of foreign employees.

“At risk” suppliers are required to complete a due diligence questionnaire concerning their compliance with Total policies, the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and with international standards concerning forced labour and related matters. The Total Group is in the process of further developing a rule on human rights assessment of suppliers, based on the Fundamental Principles of Purchasing.

Actions taken in 2016 and Risk Assessment

In July 2016, Total published its 1st Human Rights Briefing Paper based on the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, where it identified the salient human rights issues in its business activities and explained how the issues are being addressed, including issues relating to modern slavery.

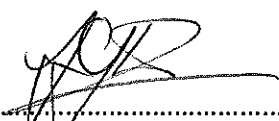

On the 9th December 2016, Total UK Limited participated in holding the 2nd edition of the Total Group Annual Business Ethics Day with the theme: “Anti-corruption and Human Rights in the Supply Chain”.

Due diligence of the supply chain is ongoing. To date no instances which might contravene the requirements of the Modern Slavery Act have been identified.
