Responsible mineral sourcing	We are committed to responsible sourcing of minerals from conflict-affected and high-risk areas in line with the OECD Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Supply Chain of Minerals from Conflict-Affected and High-Risk Areas. As part of our due diligence, we require suppliers of columbite-tantalite (tantalum), cassiterite (tin), gold, wolframite (tungsten), and cobalt, to have due diligence processes in place that are consistent with this OECD guidance. Our expectations of suppliers of these minerals are further set out in our Supply Chain Social and Environmental Responsibility Policy and in the General Specification for the Environment. More information in relation to our approach to responsible sourcing of minerals is set out in our annual Conflict Minerals Report. Human rights due diligence and supply chain
Process for assessing human rights risks and impacts	We undertake an ongoing process of human rights due diligence to identify, assess, mitigate, and account for the actual and potential adverse human rights impacts in our operations and throughout our value chain. We do this through a range of policies, processes, assessments, governance systems, and our audit program. We prioritize our efforts by focusing on our salient human rights issues that is, the human rights that are at risk of the most severe negative impacts through our activities and business relationships. When we identify human rights risks or impacts, we integrate our findings into our internal management systems and take appropriate action to cease, prevent, and mitigate them.	Human Rights Policy (September 2024), pg 10	https://h20195.www2.hp.com/v2/getpdf.aspx/c05075378.pdf

Human rights requirements in supplier code/requirements	Fundamental to HP's SCoC is the understanding that a business, in all of its activities, must operate in full compliance with applicable laws, rules, and regulations of the countries in which it operates and international standards relating to human rights. In alignment with internationally recognized standards as listed under the References of this document, and drawing upon best practices in global supply chains, elements of HP's SCoC may go beyond legal compliance in order to advance social and environmental responsibility and business ethics. In no case can complying with HP's SCoC violate applicable laws. Where HP's SCoC and national or local laws have requirements for the same subject matter, Suppliers shall meet the more stringent requirements... ....The provisions of HP's SCoC are derived from and respect internationally recognized standards, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises (OECD Guidelines for MNEs) • UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights (UNGPs) • ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work • ILO Fundamental Conventions • UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights 	HP Supplier Code of Conduct, pg 1-2	https://h20195.www2.hp.com/v2/getpdf.aspx/c04797684

Anti-bribery and anti-corruption policy

At HP, our integrity is non-negotiable – we do not tolerate bribery of any kind – and we will not knowingly facilitate any other party's corrupt conduct. We will never trade our integrity for a business opportunity. We believe it is important that public officials spend public money based on the merits of the deal, not for personal interests."
